Mountain Top Removal (feature presentation)

Jury Award - Wild & Scenic Film Festival 2008

At times, it seems news of environmental and ecological exploitations of other nations is at the forefront of our awareness. What's happening in our own country, our own backyard, is neglected or ignored. Director Mike O'Connell, though, points a sharp lens at the harsh coal-mining practice called mountaintop removal, a process that involves clear cutting and then the removal of up to 1,000 vertical feet of mountain by explosives. He is there when citizens, students and evangelical environmentalists confront the nation's fourth largest coal company. (74 mins)

Saturday, Nov. 8

7 p.m.

Gimme Green Lawns are undeniably an American symbol. But what do they really symbolize? Gimme Green is a humorous look at the American obsession with the residential lawn and the effects it has on our environment, our wallets and our outlook on life. (27 mins)

Hybrid.Pedal Environmentalists and road bikers make a thousand-mile ride from Portland, Oregon, to Salt Lake City, Utah. Along the way, riders rode through seven threatened areas and discussed the issues of each place with representatives from grassroots groups seeking to keep them wild. (28 mins)

Oil & Water Project Two kayakers embark on an endless summer-style 35,000 km road trip from Alaska to Argentina in a retro-outfitted Japanese fire truck without a single drop of petroleum. (33 mins)
